ITHACA, NEW YORK

FALL 2001

A Note From The Chapter President

As the musical Rent asks, how do you measure a year in the life? In daylight, in sunsets, in midnights, in cups of coffee? In inches, in miles, in laughter, in stride?

For me, this past year has been defined largely by my role as Tri-Delta's president. And what a year it has been, full of challenges, late nights, and learning experiences—but most of all, fun. I've gained such fantastic experience in planning events, leading committees, and overseeing those committees. I have worked to overcome challenges that the house has faced in the past and to solve problems that have only recently presented themselves. This is my second year living in the house, and so I have been getting to know a whole new group of women, the new member class below my own, better than I ever would have had I not lived in. I've worked with such a diverse group of people, helping them and learning from them. And I got to spend a weekend at our regional conference, meeting other Tri-Deltas from the Northeast.

I'm looking forward to moving on to a position on the Panhellenic Executive Board next year, but I am also sad to see my presidential term come to an end. Coming into office, I remember being very excited, nervous, and not really knowing what I was getting myself into. I think that a personal goal was to become a better public speaker, and I did accomplish that—and so much more. Now, as I prepare to pass my office on to Carolyn Sieffert, I am much more confident and mature. After seeing all aspects of the sorority, I've found that the most important aspect is sisterhood: through both the difficult times and happy ones, my sisters were there to share them with me and to lend a hand, an ear, or a shoulder. I'm glad I still have a year to enjoy my sisters and to make more memories. I know they and the house will hold a special place in my heart for years and years to come.

Alpha Betas Renovate The House

These past couples of months have brought many changes to the Tri-Delt house. With a generous allotment of money from the house corporation for some much-needed improvements, many sisters have been working with Jenna Lewis (president) and Josie Lee (house mom) to maintain and update the house.

A committee of in-house sisters spent hours researching and looking for furniture for the living room. They finally found what they were looking for, and, in the beginning of December, three couches, a coffee table, two end tables, two floor lamps, three table lamps, and an armoire arrived to give the living room a new and elegant look. Two beautiful chandeliers were also installed. The new layout of the room will make the room more conducive to social interaction among sisters.

The kitchen is also going through major renovations. The scratched and scuffed floor is being refinished, and new wallpaper is replacing the old. The kitchen chairs and tables are being refinished and repaired, and new blinds and curtains are being bought for the newly fixed screen doors.

The foyer, too, is changing. Cost-efficient stone-looking tile will replace the present carpet. This will eliminate the problems we have experienced of the destruction of the carpet by salt and mud every winter and the annual need for repair and replacement.

A chandelier that matches the newly installed chandeliers in the living room is replacing the tarnished one that is there now.

Walls will be decorated with Tri-Delta memorabilia, including awards, plaques, and pictures. We have purchased over 40 beautiful frames to use for the decades-old black-and-white photographs taken at Tri-Delta formals and for the many composites we have dating back to the 1960s. These will be hung in the living room, foyer, and hallways to decorate the house and to remind us of the history of Tri-Delta.

Once the rest of the house is completed, our attention will be turned to the chapter room. While it should be a source of pride for the house, our chapter room floods and has been neglected for years. We need to stop the flooding and repair the rotting walls and then repaint and decorate the room. We hope to equip this room with new chairs so that every sister can sit comfortably during chapter.

The design committee hopes that these changes will instill in all sisters a new respect and love for the house. In fact, it has already. With all of these exciting changes taking place in the house, sisters can hardly wait for everything to be done. This renovation has brought much excitement to all collegiate members of the Alpha Beta Chapter.

Undergrads Work To Expand Collegiate Alumnae Relations Program

Dear Alpha Beta alumnae and friends,

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce the fall Alpha Beta Data. For at least the past three years, since I was initiated into Tri-Delta in spring 1999, the Alpha Beta Data has been published annually and mailed in the spring semester. We are, however, printing the newsletter twice this academic year, once each semester, thereby maintaining additional and more regular contact with each of you. This consistent communication among and a more enhanced relationship between the collegiate members and alumnae, family, and friends of the Alpha Beta Chapter are of utmost importance to us, both individually and as a house.

With that said, I would like to inform you of our growing collegiate alumnae relations program. More alumnae visited Cornell University and the house at 118 Triphammer Road this year during Homecoming Weekend than in recent years. The five events that we organized for both collegiate and alumnae members of the Alpha Beta Chapter for the weekend of Homecoming, October 12-14, 2001, proved to be huge successes. Our thanks go to all alumnae who visited the house, spoke with collegiate members, and took the time to become reacquainted with the Alpha Beta Chapter. We enjoyed meeting some of you for the first time and had a great time catching up with many recent graduates.

Founders Day was a success as the collegiate members enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner together before the holiday break. This event helped us realize that since the Alpha Beta Chapter was founded, we have succeeded in upholding the traditions of Tri-Delta and have maintained a strong and united sisterhood over the years. I have every reason to believe that this strength of sisterhood will continue to grow with the passing years.

As a senior, it is time for me to prepare to leave Cornell, and it is with a heavy heart that I must leave Tri-Delta, my sisters, and my friends. I do, however, have great hope that I will maintain contact with my fellow Tri-Deltas and that future members of the Alpha Beta Chapter will help me keep in touch with many mailings of newsletters and invitations to visit the house.

This past year, a comprehensive update was made of our alumnae directory. We worked with Cornell to gather the most recent information, addresses, and telephone numbers of all Alpha Beta alums, and I also worked with the University Publishing Corporation to compile a complete and accurate directory for distribution among all collegiate and alumnae members. It is my hope that this directory will encourage each of us to keep in touch with the sisters with whom we enjoyed our years at Cornell and to develop new friendships with alumnae of all ages and in all locations. I urge you to notify us if you move, so that we can be sure that you receive any and all mailings and stay updated of the goings-on at the house.

I hope that you have enjoyed and will continue to enjoy the heightened communication we have tried to develop among all Alpha Betas. Erica Frank will assume the position of collegiate alumnae relations chair, and I know she will continue to enhance collegiate-alumnae relations and to encourage our lively participation in the chapter. I look forward to seeing many of you at future events when I return to campus as an alumna.

Yours truly,
Meredith Topper

New Member Program "A Huge Success"

This year, we participated in fall membership recruitment and initiated into our chapter seven new members (six sophomores and one junior), by far one of the largest fall pledge classes we have had in a long time. The new members received and accepted bids at the end of September, and after four weeks, having participated in a comprehensive new member program, were initiated on October 27 into the Stars and Crescent Degree. Because less time has been allotted to the new member program, the new members were not able to participate in a wide array of events, but they did take part in several activities, including apple picking with some of the older sisters. Overall, the new member program was a huge success.

The new sisters are a diverse group of young women, but despite their differences, they have become very close over the four-week pledge period and since initiation. As an older sister remarked, "They are always together, and they are always smiling."

On another note, I am very excited about formal new member recruitment in the spring. After our successful fall new member program, I have great hopes for the spring new member class. The pledge class of spring '02 will have a busy schedule, beginning with a fun-filled bid night at the Nines for a pizza dinner with the entire house.

Get excited! We have a terrific fall pledge class, and we can look forward to a great spring class.

Tri-Delta Welcomes Seven New Members

This fall, all sisters of the Alpha Beta Chapter participated in membership recruitment events, including a barbecue at the house, an ice cream social, and a bagel bash in Collegetown. During these events, the sisters had a chance to meet all of the potential new members, and the potential new members had a chance to meet our sisters and to see our home at 118 Triphammer Road. Fall recruitment proved to be a huge success, and we are thrilled to welcome seven new members into our sisterhood. They are Lisa Boikes '04, Allison Goldberg '04, Courtney LeVine '04, Kristi Melia '03, Marika Nakamoto '04, Lily Nierenberg '04, and Emily Pollak '04. These seven new members are adding more vitality, fun, and strength to our already thriving sisterhood.

We look forward to expanding our sisterhood even further this upcoming January when we participate in formal membership recruitment. More than 500 freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are expected to walk through our doors. Much planning and several workshops have begun to prepare our sisters for six long but very fun and worthwhile days. The new member class of spring '01 has taken the lead in planning a creative and entertaining skit for this upcoming January. It is guaranteed to be full of laughs and perhaps a few tears from outgoing seniors. Given the hours of hard work that the sisters are investing in recruitment, we are confident that we will finish on January 20 with a large new member class and with an even stronger and more united sisterhood.

A New Member Shares Her Thoughts About Joining Tri-Delta

Joining Delta Delta Delta was a welcoming and warming experience, one that eased me into a new family. It started during fall informal membership recruitment: All potential new members were greeted at the door with smiles and a name tag and were escorted and entertained throughout the common areas. We got to meet a number of sisters. I noticed quickly that the conversations weren't as boring and routine as they were at other houses; they were real and genuine. I found that the Tri-Deltas I had met were all nice and friendly, as they should be at rush but even more so, and the environment was calm and comfortable. There was an obvious difference between Tri-Delta and the other houses I had visited.

Rush passed, and we got our bids with personal delivery and a balloon, and pinning came soon after. At pinning, the new members got to meet each other. There were seven of us, a large fall pledge class and a good one! We were always a few steps ahead of the other sororities in our pledge events, such as pinning, big/little week, and initiation. Of course, Tri-Delt is a head above the rest in everything else as well.

As new members, we share a bond with each other and with our new sisters. Everyone is a friend to one another, and that is wonderful to know. This house is a truly special one, one that I am proud to be a part of.

New Philanthropy Event: A Huge Success!

A “singled out” contest has been our chapter’s major philanthropy event for the past couple of years. This year, however, we have changed things around to make our philanthropy event even more fun and successful. We have teamed up with Omega Phi Beta, a multicultural sorority, and together have organized a lip-sync contest. We are very excited about this joint venture since Tri-Delta has not had much connection with the non-Greek houses on campus. Furthermore, we found strong support from Panhel as they were pleased to see a bridging of the gap between Greek and non-Greek houses at Cornell.

Several houses on campus registered a team to participate in this event. Each team dressed up in costume and lip-synced to a song of their choice, usually throwing in a bit of a rehearsed dance routine to spice up the act. Judges selected the four best acts of the entire lot, and these acts then performed a randomly selected song. The audience determined the final winner, choosing the men of the Alpha Tau Chapter of Phi Kappa Tau, who graciously returned the cash prize to be donated to the charity.

The lip-sync contest was held on Thursday, November 29. We raised approximately $700 to benefit children’s cancer research and children’s welfare programs. Needless to say, it was a lot of fun and a great success!
